With over 20 years of experience in the design-build industry, Jonathan has designed a multitude of residential remodeling projects ranging from kitchens to custom homes and everything in between. He enjoys working with his clients to help them improve their quality of life through the design of their home. Instilled with strong Mid-Western values by his parents who relocated to San Diego area from Chicago in the late 1950s, he prides himself on his professionalism, attention to detail, and prompt communication. Jonathan is a team player who is more concerned about making his clients happy than he is about receiving personal recognition.

Jonathan holds a master's degree in educational technology and worked as an instructional design consultant in the world of high-tech corporate training before making a career switch to construction in 2000, which he learned in the field as an apprentice carpenter. His lifelong passion for architecture made the decision to change careers an easy one.

Jonathan began working as a project manager and quickly became a design consultant. He continues to use his background in educational technology by working diligently to assess his projects thoroughly on the front end to ensure his clients experience smooth sailing throughout the entire project.

Outside work; Jonathan is interested in music, furniture making and vintage cars and motorcycles. He has volunteered on several Habitat for Humanity projects and also takes an active role in raising his two young children.

"We recently had a room remodeling project completed with Marrokal. This company was stellar throughout the whole process, from the time we initially met Jonathan at the home and garden show to the planning and designing of the project, the closeout, meeting our PM and the various trades for the job, and interacting with the welcoming and friendly Marrokal staff. These folks are definite pros, and we would recommend them to anyone looking for home remodeling."

"Jonathan is professional and friendly. I have nothing but positive things to say about working with him. In the future, I look forward to continue working with Jonathan and the rest of Marrokal's team on my project."

As a Design Consultant, my priority is to guide clients through the remodeling journey with confidence and clarity. Home renovations involve many moving parts, and I understand the trust clients place in us when making such significant personal and financial decisions.

I work closely with homeowners to clarify their vision, explore design possibilities, and develop smart, efficient solutions that align with their goals. With experience managing a wide range of projects, I'm able to foresee potential issues and help prevent them before they impact the process. And when unexpected challenges arise, I know I can rely on the expertise of the entire Marrokal team to find the right path forward.
